REPRODUCTION AND FAIR USE • No commercial or for-profit use of this work, in whole or in part, is allowed without the author's permission. Not-for-profit organizations, educational institutions, government agencies, and Indigenous communities may with credit extract from this work for purposes of resource management and interpretation, education, and public outreach; they also may download the entire document for cataloging and inclusion in their digital products collections, and they may freely allow users to copy this document for their use if it does not violate either the conditions given here or specific limits of copyright law that may not be waived by this fair-use statement. Reuse of this work, in whole or in part, for any purpose, must cite author, title, publisher, and notice of copyright. Academic or other individual researchers may copy selections for personal reference and may quote from this work following best practices of acknowledgment in scholastic research.

Replication of the entire document is permitted in order to ensure preservation or to migrate to different software, or medium not now in existence, when the technology to use the original digital copy is unsupported, inadequate, or obsolete. Documentary copies of this work in a non-digital medium are permitted for reference use or to preempt the loss of the work due to technological change that may no longer permit this work to be accessed by the means for which it was originally designed.

This statement does not supersede copyrights held by the original sources of items cited or quoted in this work.

SOURCES OF ACADEMIC THESES AND DISSERTATIONS

ACADEMIC THESES AND DISSERTATIONS are cited in THE GRAND CANON even though technically they are unpublished; they nevertheless are available through academic libraries and many are now widely accessible on websites, and some are cited in more regularly established work, too. These kinds of “non-conventional” productions, as like gray literature, represent a record of ongoing research and are used and cited by researchers and other interested parties. They also are a part of the historical record of activities in, and attention to, the regions covered by this bibliography.

Numerals in the left column are counters (1–476) only for convenience; they are not a permanent registration of these names nor are there any cross-references to them. The numbers continually change as new names are added to this list; thus this particular number sequence appears only in the present edition of THE GRAND CANON.

Names and places of institutions are as cited and for the dates of citations; name changes may occur.

No symbol indicates institutions in the United States

‡ Indicates institutions in Mexico

• Indicates institutions elsewhere than the United States and Mexico
