PREFACIO

(traducido del inglés)

CITAS EN LA SERIE DE BIBLIOGRAFÍA ESPECIALIZADA han sido extraídas del Volumen 1, Parte B de THE GRAND CANON, una bibliografía mucho más extensa sobre las regiones del Gran Cañón y la parte baja del río Colorado en el suroeste de América del Norte. Todas las anotaciones están en inglés. (THE GRAND CANON es una serie de publicaciones accesibles en línea en <https://ravensperch.org>.) Esta bibliografía sobre la ecología y los entornos del río Colorado debajo de Yuma, y el extremo norte del Golfo de California, complementa otras bibliografías enfocadas biológicamente que se han preparado para la región del Gran Cañón (también accesible en el sitio web de Raven's Perch Media). En general, el área del golfo considerada aquí es el área al norte de una línea entre San Felipe, Baja California y Puerto Peñasco y el Golfo de Santa Clara, Sonora, por lo que abarca particularmente a la Reserva de la Biosfera en el Alto Golfo de California y Delta del Río Colorado y el Área de Refugio para la Protección de la Vaquita Marina.

Se consideran las áreas ambientalmente protegidas en el extremo norte del Golfo de California porque muchas especies y ambientes se ven afectados por las contribuciones históricas y cambiantes del río Colorado a través de su delta. En cuanto a las faunas marinas del lugar, los cambios ambientales provocados por el cese efectivo de los caudales del río Colorado hacia el golfo y los efectos de las actividades pesqueras, se entrelazan a tal punto que es imperativo citar publicaciones que relacionarse con estas áreas y temas.

El material perteneciente a la Ciénega de Santa Clara, en Sonora, se incluye en esta bibliografía por su relación ecológica y geográfica con el delta del río Colorado, aunque hoy en día se manifiesta ambientalmente por la recepción de escorrentía agrícola salobre de los Estados Unidos a través de la "Main Outlet Drain Extension" canal (canal de extensión de drenaje de salida principal).

Esta bibliografía también incluye elementos relacionados con los esfuerzos de EE. UU. en la desalinización de las aguas entregadas a México en el río Colorado (por ejemplo, elementos que pertenecen a la planta desalinizadora de Yuma). Los elementos relacionados con la salinidad del río Colorado en general, o estudios específicos de salinidad en áreas al norte del delta y Yuma, no se incluyen aquí. Para tal material vea la Parte 11/Sección 1 más extensa de THE GRAND CANON.

Numerosas citas que se relacionan con áreas periféricas a la región del delta, por ejemplo, el Valle de Yuma, Arizona; Valle Imperial, California; Valle de Mexicali y Laguna Salada, Baja California; y la Reserva de la Biosfera El Pinacate y Gran Desierto de Altar, en Sonora, se encontrarán entre los muchos listados más completos de la Parte 11/Sección 1 de THE GRAND CANON, Volumen 1. Elementos pertinentes a la agricultura, especialmente en el Valle de Yuma, Valle Imperial y Valle de Mexicali, y temas similares generalmente no pertenecen al entorno inmediato del delta; muchas citas sobre estos temas también se encontrarán en la Parte 11/Sección 1. Los usuarios también pueden consultar la bibliografía biológica especial complementaria sobre el Mar de Salton y sus alrededores, accesible a través del sitio web de Raven's Perch.

No se incluyen estudios geológicos de las áreas del delta y del golfo; consulte la Parte 11/Sección 2 de THE GRAND CANON Volumen 1, Parte B.

Las notas y anotaciones en las citas están en inglés.

Cada cita aquí incluye un número de artículo (por ejemplo, 11.4217; el prefijo "11" indica que es de la Parte 11 de la bibliografía mucho más grande, THE GRAND CANON, Volumen 1, Parte B). Sirven solo como números de serie, que identifican citas de manera única a lo largo de THE GRAND CANON. Los números se asignan a medida que se adquieren las citas para la bibliografía, por lo que no se siguen en orden. Varias citas pertinentes de otras partes de THE GRAND CANON también aparecen en esta bibliografía especial; se identifican con prefijos que no sean "11."

Los números de artículos en cursiva coloreada indican publicaciones que se refieren únicamente a México.

Consulte <https://ravensperch.org> para ver todo lo relacionado con la bibliografía completa del Gran Cañón y el Bajo Río Colorado.

PREFACE

CITATIONS IN THE SPECIALIZED BIBLIOGRAPHY SERIES have been extracted from Volume 1, Part B of THE GRAND CANON, a much more expansive bibliography of the Grand Canyon and lower Colorado River regions of southwestern North America. All annotations are in English. (THE GRAND CANON is a series of publications accessible online at <https://ravensperch.org>.) This bibliography on the ecology and environments of the Colorado River below Yuma, and the northern extremity of the Gulf of California, complements other biologically focused bibliographies that have been prepared for the Grand Canyon region (also accessible on the Raven's Perch Media website). Generally, the gulf area considered herein is the area north of a line between San Felipe, Baja California, and Puerto Peñasco and Golfo de Santa Clara, Sonora, thus it particularly embraces Mexico's Reserva de la Biosfera en el Alto Golfo de California y Delta del Río Colorado and the Área de Refugio para la Protección de la Vaquita Marina (Upper Gulf of California and Delta of the Colorado River Biosphere Reserve, and the Refuge Area for the Protection of the Vaquita Marina).

The environmentally protected areas at the northern end of the Gulf of California are considered because many species and environments are affected by historic and changing contributions of the Colorado River through its delta. With regard to the marine faunas there, the environmental changes caused by the effective cessation of Colorado River flows into the gulf, and the effects of fishing activities, intertwine to such a degree that it is imperative to cite publications that relate to these areas and subjects.

Material pertaining to the Ciénega de Santa Clara, in Sonora, is included in this bibliography due to its ecological and geographical relationship to the Colorado River Delta, although today it environmentally manifests itself by the receipt of brackish agricultural runoff from the United States via the "Main Outlet Drain Extension" canal.

This bibliography also includes items relating to U.S. efforts in desalinization of waters delivered to Mexico in the Colorado River (for example, items that pertain to the Yuma Desalting Plant). Items that pertain to Colorado River salinity in general, or specific studies of salinity in areas north of the delta and Yuma, are not included here. For such material see the more extensive Part 11/Section 1 of THE GRAND CANON.

Numerous citations that relate to areas peripheral to the delta region—for example, the Yuma Valley, Arizona; Imperial Valley, California; Valle de Mexicali and Laguna Salada, Baja California; and the Reserva de la Biosfera El Pinacate y Gran Desierto de Altar, in Sonora—will be found among the many more comprehensive listings of Part 11/Section 1 of THE GRAND CANON, Volume 1. Items pertinent to agriculture, especially in the Yuma Valley, Imperial Valley, and Valle de Mexicali, and similar topics do not generally pertain to the immediate delta environment; many citations on these subjects will also be found in Part 11/Section 1. Users may also wish to consult the complementary special biological bibliography on the Salton Sea and vicinity, accessible through the Raven's Perch website.

Geological studies of the delta and gulf areas are not included; refer to Part 11/Section 2 of THE GRAND CANON Volume 1, Part B.

Each citation here includes an Item number (for example, 11.4217; the prefix "11." indicates that it is from Part 11 of the much larger bibliography, THE GRAND CANON, Volume 1, Part B). They serve as serial numbers only, which uniquely identify citations throughout THE GRAND CANON. Numbers are assigned as citations are acquired for the bibliography, thus they do not follow in order. Several pertinent citations from other parts of THE GRAND CANON also appear in this special bibliography; they are identified by prefixes other than “11.”

Item numbers in colored italics indicate publications that pertain only to Mexico.

See <https://ravensperch.org> for everything pertaining to the complete Grand Canyon–Lower Colorado River bibliography.

NOTE: Users who wish to investigate publications on the entire Gulf of California may consult A Bibliography for the Sea of Cortez (Gulf of California), frequently updated by Richard C. Brusca:

- 1885 11.613 [Report of fresh-water sponges along Colorado River 59 miles south-southwest from Yuma.] The Museum (Philadelphia), 1(3) (July): 39. ["Mr. Edward Potts reports the discovery of sponges (Meyenia plumosa, var.—) growing on trees (Strombucarpus pubescens on the Colorado river, 59 miles S. S. W. from Fort Yuma, California, by Dr. Edward Palmer. The sponges are nearly spherical in shape, and some of them are almost six inches in diameter, the dark masses in a dried state hanging from the pendant boughs by thousands, like wasps' nests. Only during portions of May and June are the branches of the trees under water, and it is, therefore, believed that the sponges are developed from the gemmule or statoblast within the short period of three to six weeks." Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty. London: Lovell Reeve, 483 [484] pp., 100 plates. [Title-page gives date as "1852-1857."] [See "Flora of North-Western Mexico" (pp. 255-346), which district is delimited "by an imaginary line extending from Acapulco north-eastwards to Durango, thence to Chihuahua, from that city to the mouth of the river Colorado, in the Gulf of California, and along the western coast of Mexico to Acapulco." (p. 262). No gatherings are noted from the Colorado River delta region. The introduction to this section also notes that the vessel's hydrographical survey of the Gulf of California "did not hold out many advantages for the increase of our collections", so instead an exploration of the interior to Chichuahua was made (p. 259). The author also notes, in passing, "the coasts of Sinaloa and Sonora, a sterile and barren country" (p. 260).] [Cited more for the documentation of intended but dismissed opportunities.]
